go into details of various contested cases, saying he would leave that to other speakers. He read the indictment of the national committee, as uttered by Colonel Roosevelt in his Monday night speech in this city, and it called out a big cheer.

He then read a statement from 14
members of the national committee protesting against the action of the majority in setting the party of the delegates, particularly in the selection of Texas and Wisconsin cases.

Governor Hadley made in earnest plea that personalities be left out of the debate, declaring the question was so clearly one of principle that it should not be involved by anything else. It was not a question of any man's undelivered hand, but a question of the next campaign, but im-matured the very existence of the Republican party itself.

Hadley was given the closest attention throughout. In closing, he declared that when the vote on the sub-roll came he would contend that on the question submitted only the votes of those delegates whose seats were not contested be allowed to ballot.

"All law, all precedents agree," he said, "that no man should be a judge in his own case."

Hadley was followed by W. J. Dovel of Washington, who argued in favor of the Taft delegates seated by the national committee from Washington.

Devine Is Not Popular.
The next speaker was Thomas H.
Devine of Colorado, a member of the Taft forces and slated for chairman of the committee on credentials.

Devine sat in the sessions of the Republican national committee as the representative of Colorado.
He declared the 14 members of the committee had listened to their matters and signed a statement. The contents of which they did not know.
Mr. Devine said Governor Hadley had told him he expected to say "something about the national committee,"
after it seated his Missouri delegation.

But it seems to have been one of those Missouri gentlemen's agreements," he said, "which he stands for only when it is to his own interest."

A wave of hisses and boos from the Roosevelt forces greeted this attack
on Governor Hadley.

Turning to the southern contest Mr.
Devine characterized the action of the Roosevelt men in "stirring" up those contests as "a damnable piece of business."

There were groans and cheers at this and thereafter Devine was constantly in trouble with his audience. He referred to Ormsby McHarg as "emissary from the north, loaded or unloaded, I won't say which."

There was a series of interruptions
after which Devine said:
"This emissary went among the delegates that were honestly elected—"

"How, how, how," laughed several delegates and their example was quickly followed on floor and galleries.

When Devine resumed his denigra-tion of the southern contests someone yelled that his statements were not true.

"You say they are not true," he shouted, "but 101 of the contests were thrown out of the committee unanimously."

This brought a cheer from the Taft men.

W. H. Featherstone, a Texas delegate, kept yelling at Devine. This aroused the ire of Senator Root. He walked to the front of the stage again.
Gentlemen of the convention," said he, "I don't know whether you want to hear what is said on this serious subject but I want to say to you," pointing at Featherstone, "that delegate or no delegate, if you don't preserve order the sergeant-at-arms will be directed to put you out."

Root was loudly applauded. Featherstone insisted he was merely trying to correct misstatements by Devine in attacking the "Great Lion Steam roller in Texas." Devine concluded with a defense of the national committee which brought a great chorus of boos and hisses from the Roosevelt sympatizers.

Call for Hadley.
The crowd at this juncture began to call for Hadley. C. C. Littleton of Texas, a Taft delegate and a brother of Representative Martin W. Littleton of New York, was introduced by Governor Hadley to say a word of defense for Littleton.

Lyons has built up an organization in Texas against which the gates of hell cannot prevail," he said, as he concluded.

Attention was interrupted several times and there were renewed calls for Hadley.

The governor appeared and was according the greatest demonstration of the convention up to this time. Both floor and galleries were on their feet whistling, cheering, yelling, pounding chairs and stamping their feet.

Watson and Root joined in conversation with Hadley as he stood waiting for the wild welcome to cease.

Stubbs Leads Cheering.
But the tumult went on and on. Hats were thrown in the air and one enthusiastic negro delegate raised an umbrella and cast it above his head. In one corner of the hall, Governor Stubbs
of Kansas, his light hair gleaming, waved his arms wildly, leading cheer
after cheer.

The California delegation endeavored to put up their Roosevelt banners and start around the hall. But Sergeant-at-Arms Stone quickly halted the plan and the banners were taken down.

The Missouri standard was waved on high and in an instant the New Jersey delegates raised their standard and started around the hall. Missouri

Hadley's home state, followed. Then West Virginia joined the procession.
The ovation to Governor Hadley started a running fire of talk on the convention floor to make him the compromise candidate for president.

The Roosevelt people yelled themselves hoarse, while many of the so-called neutral delegates joined in the cheering.

One of the Ohio delegates grabbed up the standard of that state and marched across the aisle in front of the stage.

California, Nebraska and Kansas were soon in line and the hall became a bedlam of noise.

The first great ovation of the convention was fairly under way.

Governor Hadley moved from his place on the front of the stage and stood beside Mr. Root and Mr. Watson.
Oklahoma and Pennsylvania fell in line, shouting, cheering, trying to sing, cheering Roosevelt and Hadley.

It took three men to carry each of the heavy standards which had been especially weighted to prevent such a demonstration.

"We Want Teddy," the Cry.
Some of the California delegates as they went by the speaker's stand called out, "We want Teddy." A stalwart Kansas carrying the standard of that state attempted to thrust it upon the platform, but was pulled back.

Missouri's delegates brought their standard with its big iron base up in front of the speakers' stand and did a "grizzly bear dance" there until pushed on by other delegations.

Some of the states found their standards fastened so securely to the floor that all efforts to dislodge them proved futile. Massachusetts people tugged at theirs for 10 minutes and then broke it.

The New York delegates climbed on their chairs when the demonstration had been in progress 17 minutes, but they did so to observe and not to take part.

Over in the Kansas delegation a deep thrust yelp punctuated the demonstration. "We want Teddy, we want Teddy," came the yell and soon it developed into a deep, booming chant that rose above the floor sound.

California's bear surmounted pole joined the parade and the Massachusetts delegates hoisted a big black hat
on their broken standard.

Soon after this incident a pretty girl
in white in the gallery suddenly stood up and waved a photograph of Colonel Roosevelt. She was at once the center of attraction, she stood waving the picture in one hand and a handkerchief in the other smiling all the while.

Finally she dropped the picture. But many of the eyes that turned her way lost none of their interest when the Theodore Roosevelt likeness disappeared.

The girl herself was sufficient treat.
Then someone found the picture and returned it to her and the cheering
which had died away for the instant was renewed.

The California "Teddy Bear" standard and several state standards were carried to her side.

Reporters made a rush to find who she was. It was Mrs. W. A. Davis of Chicago.

Old timers said they remembered
nothing like this since Minnie Barnes of Iowa, the famous "woman in white," stampeded the Democratic convention in 1896.

Mrs. Davis was brought to the floor by several delegates and an attempt was made to lift her to the stage. But the sergeant-at-arms stopped this. But Mrs. Davis, from the press section, led the cheering, still holding her precious picture and trying to make a speech.

Lets Demonstration Run Its Course.
Senator Root made no serious effort to stop the demonstration for a long while until it had been in progress 40 minutes and Mrs. Davis disappeared from the floor.

Sergeant-at-Arms Stone and Assistant Chief Schuetzler of the police department, patrolling the center aisle, succeeded in getting most of the delegates in their seats by 3:37 o'clock.

Policemen in the gallery were endeavoring to restore quiet in the vicinity of Mrs. Davis who had returned to her gallery seat, amid another wave of cheers. She withdrew for a moment in the company of an officer, and the crowd hissed what they thought was a forcible removal of the feminine enthusiast. In a moment she returned to her seat to receive another storm of applause.

When quiet had been restored and Governor Hadley had made a brief statement, Mr. Watson moved to refer to the credentials committee the motion to seat the 22 Roosevelt delegates. Governor Deenen moved to amend so as to provide that no contested delegates should vote on the membership of the committee on credentials or on its report.

500 POLICEMEN AND 800 SERGEANTS AT ARMS ON DUTY TODAY

CHICAGO, June 19.—The Taft forces tonight said they were prepared for an attempt by the Roosevelt people to hold a convention in the convention hall, and had taken steps to prevent such disorder.

It was said that 500 policemen and 800 assistant sergeants-at-arms would be stationed in the convention hall to prevent disorder, and would do so at any cost.

It was said some of the Roosevelt forces were expected to attempt a convention, tomorrow, to instruct the credentials committee to grant more time for a hearing of the contest.

Colonel Roosevelt, it was said, would be present in the convention hall and that while he would have no legal standing in the convention he might be swept into the light by his followers.

Colonel Roosevelt counseled delay at a conference of his supporters, just before midnight. He asked them to adjourn until later in the night, when he would have more facts to lay before them.

Pennsylvania Vote Challenged.
William Flinn reported the Pennsylvania vote as 11 ayes, 65 nays. The vote was challenged, and on a roll call gave the Taft forces 12 Roosevelt 64.
John Wanamaker, who was absent yesterday, voted aye. In South Carolina, the Taft forces had 11 Roosevelt, 6 one not voting. This was a loss of one for Roosevelt.

After the roll call was completed,
and before it was officially announced, Chairman Root ruled upon a point of order of Governor Hadley, that a contested delegate could not vote upon his own right to his seat, but could vote on other identical cases. Otherwise, he said, a minority could control
a convention by bringing a sufficient number of contests.

The ruling was received with applause from the Taft faction. The result of the vote was then officially announced.

The Watson motion, by which the Hadley resolution was referred to the credentials committee, was then adopted by a viva voce vote without division.

The roll of states was then called for the names of the credentials committee and it was announced.

The other committees were announced in like manner.

Massachusetts made no choice for the credentials committee being tied 18 to 18.

Texas divided 28 to 10, two not voting. Yesterday it was 31 to 21 and Virginia divided 21 and 3 as against 22 and 1 yesterday.

A great deal of interest centered in the action of Wisconsin, which gave its vote yesterday among anti-Taft candidates. Today the delegation cast all its 25 votes against Hawaii called out a great cheer by voting six ayes. Yesterday the delegation voted against Taft.

Hadley Overruled on Every Point.
When it was announced that the Taft motion to table had been carried by a vote of 64 to 50, the Taft forces broke into a cheer. The vote on the temporary chairmanship yesterday had been 58 for Root to 50 for Governor McGowan.

Prior to announcing the vote Chairman Root said that Governor Hadley had made points of order against any of the 92 contested delegates voting, and he had fully considered the matter, during the calling of the roll. He overruled all the points.

No man, said Senator Root, "can be permitted to vote on the question of his right to a seat when it is questioned, but this does not disqualify any delegate on the roll of the convention from voting on another man's right to a seat or from participating in any other regular business of the convention."

"Otherwise any minority could secure control of a deliberative body by grouping a sufficient number of their opponents in one motion to give them
control of the uncontested delegates."

Senator Root quoted the precedents
of the national house of representatives.

"If this contention were upheld," he added, "enough seats could be contested so that there would be no delegates to do business."

Defeated, the Roosevelt forces made no further moves.

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man can understand the torture and suffering many women endure in accomplishing. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with patience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for——distate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, a remedy which is a tonic to take because containing no narcotics, alcohol or injurious ingredients. It is an alternative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the "Ladies' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y."

"Mrs. LIZZIE M. HENNING, of Lincoln, Neb., 529 'C' St., says: 'I send a testimonial with much pleasure to that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your remedy. I was a great sufferer from female troubles but after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured.'"

"I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

DARROW BRINGS OUT THAT BEHM TESTIFIED FALSELY

LOS ANGELES, June 19.—(Latimes.)
Darrow occupied the center of the stage in his trial for alleged jury bribery today, when he consumed nearly the entire day with his cross-examination of George Behm of Portage, Wis., an uncle of Orville M. Hargis.

Behm admitted that he had not been told by Mr. Darrow to testify falsely to the grand jury, and that he had received merely expense money to come to Los Angeles, and that Mrs. McManigal had first asked him to make the trip because she was not in good health. He admitted also that he had volunteered his services as a witness in the present trial. His reason for appearing as a witness against Darrow, Behm said, was his desire to "clear" himself because of having testified perjury before the grand jury last August.

Behm admitted that his first visit to Orville McManigal in the Los Angeles county jail was on the latter's invitation.

EVELYN THAW ON STAND
Appears as Witness for State in its efforts to Keep Her Husband, H. K. Thaw, in Mattawan Asylum.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 19.—Evelyn Thaw, as a witness for the state in its effort to keep her husband, H. K. Thaw, in the Mattawan asylum, repeated in a crowded court room here this afternoon her story of the series of sensational which culminated in Thaw's murder of Stanford White. Her testimony covered her relations with Thaw from the time, 10 years ago when he first sought acquaintance with her as a chorus girl, his proposal of marriage, his rejection by White, the Thaw marriage, his constant reversion to his relations with White, and the shooting of White on the Madison Square roof garden.

Her story was a mere outline, only the features of which W. T. Jerome, for the state, wished to bring to the front to show Thaw's mental condition, being dwelt upon.

She identified several hypodermic needles as those used by Thaw.

PYTHIANS HOLD MEMORIAL
The Pythian Sisters joined with Colorado Springs lodge No. 34, Knights of Pythias, in commemorating the dead of the two orders. The ceremony was carried out according to the flower ritual. The speakers of the evening were Judge W. S. Morris of the district court and Mrs. W. D. Tudor. Judge Morris' talk was brief. He discussed the duty of the living toward the dead, and the influence which the memory of the dead should have on the living.

Mrs. Tudor declared that death links the living to the hereafter and tends to make life brighter and better. Mrs. W. B. Price sang. The lodge rooms were decorated for the service, and especial attention had been given to the floral emblems that featured in the ritual.

News of Local Courts

In the district court yesterday, in the suit of E. R. Stark against the city of Colorado Springs, plaintiff filed a reply to defendant's answer, citing alleged inaccuracies in the answer. Stark filed suit several weeks ago, alleging his property on East Pikes Peak avenue has been damaged by the construction of the Pikes Peak avenue undercrossing at the Santa Fe tracks.

The International Realty company, co-defendant with the city of Colorado Springs in the damage suit of John V. Goede, yesterday filed petition and bond of $500 for removal of the case to the district court of the United States for the district of Colorado, pointing out that it is not a Colorado corporation, but doing business under the laws of the state of Wyoming. Goede seeks damages for alleged injuries received when he fell on a slippery pavement last winter.

J. B. Mack, arrested in Rocky Ford last Sunday and charged with the robbery of a hardware store here, is said to have confessed. He is believed to be a paroled prisoner from the Illinois penitentiary.

A report was made to the police, yesterday noon, that prowlers had entered the home of J. Austin Fullerton, 1119 North Weber street, Tuesday night. Nothing of value was taken, but it was evident that the prowlers visited every room and ate lunch in the kitchen. Entrance was gained through an upstairs window, from which the screen was cut away, and the intruders left through the kitchen door, locking it after them.

HIBBARD EMPLOYEES TO BE GUESTS AT BURNS

A. B. Russell of C. A. Hibbard & Co., has arranged to entertain 48 of the employees of that institution at a large party at the Burns theater next Monday night, occupying an entire section of the dress circle. He said yesterday: "The 'Fortune Hunter' is such a clever lesson in store management and what comes of courteous salesmanship, that I thought it a pleasant diversion for our employees for an evening. Of course, we have no Fortune Hunter identified with this firm, but a good business principle is not to be ignored, even in a play. If this is to be a merry party at the opening then the Hibbard will be, we will have to be shown."

There will be many theater parties to witness "The Fortune Hunter" at the Burns next week, and the indications are that by this evening the house will be practically sold out, with the exception of possibly the gallery, which is not a reserved section of the house.

The box office will be open for business this morning at 10 o'clock, when selections of seats may be made from diagram.

S. L. Shober and O. T. Deahan have leased homes at Broadmoor for the summer, the latter taking the J. B. Lippincott house. Nearly all vacant houses at Broadmoor have been leased for the season.

The Rev. John Y. Ewart, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, returned yesterday from Nugent, Kan., where he went to perform the marriage ceremony for his son. He will occupy his pulpit again next Sunday.

Stopped Those Pains

Copper Hill, Va.—Mrs. Ida Conner, of this place, says, "For years, I had a pain in my right side and I was very sick with womanly troubles. I tried different doctors but could get no relief. I had given up all hope of ever getting well. I took Cardui, and it relieved the pain in my side, and now I feel like a new person. It is a wonderful medicine." Many women are completely worn-out and discouraged on account of some womanly trouble. Are you? Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Its record shows that it will help you. Why wait? Try it today. Ask your druggist about it.

TAFT PEOPLE

and revolutionary plans of procedure under the pretense of honesty and the have endeavored to cover means to make Taft delegates break their own pledges and instructions.

In the face of these desperate efforts the Taft column has steadily grown. Taft's majority today was larger than it was yesterday.

Seeking Another Leader.

The Roosevelt followers, knowing their candidate can never get enough votes to give him a majority at the convention, are now seeking a lesser, less and discouraged fashion, for another leader. Their search will be in vain. President Taft's demonstrated majority in the convention, repeated yesterday, was a fact.

They have shown their loyalty and devotion to the president upon two test votes and their sobriety was not in the least affected by a deliberate but futile attempt to stampede the convention through a carefully planned demonstration. They gave their answer to this demonstration by casting more votes today than they did yesterday.

They have shown that they propose to remain with the president until his nomination is an accomplished fact, that they will receive accessions to their ranks from those who have been temporarily carried away by a noisy, blustering, bragado campaign. The balloon-like character of that campaign has been twice punctured by decisive majority votes.

The southern delegates, instructed for Taft, are carrying out their instructions with courage and fidelity, notwithstanding the temptations of finding them in the way of money, patronage and political preferment. They have shown a laudable regard for loyalty to party pledges.

Roosevelt not only lost in votes today but his delegates indulged in 10 minutes of continuous cheering for Governor Hadley of Missouri, one of his campaign managers, showing a decided tendency to desert the Roosevelt standard.

Roosevelt's repeated threat to bolt has not materialized and statements are made by many of his leaders that should a bolt be attempted it will not be generally participated in.

The solidarity of President Taft's line and the wavering weakness of the Roosevelt forces will tell their own story of victory for the president and the bursting of the Roosevelt bubble.

The Taft leaders while outwardly ridiculing talk of a Roosevelt bolt, privately admitted that the colored, which it became apparent tomorrow, as they say it will, that the credentials committee will not interfere materially with the Taft delegates selected by the national committee, will undoubtedly order his followers out of the convention. But the Taft leaders say that the real leaders of the Roosevelt movement will not hold a rump convention to give Roosevelt an independent nomination.

The Rev. J. H. Spencer talks.

The Rev. J. H. Spencer of Denver, who is to assume the pastorate of the First Baptist church of this city soon, gave a strong address on "A Bible Message on Leadership." He declared that the Sunday schools of Colorado are bigger and better than last year, and noted the great opportunity Colorado Sunday school workers have in reaching out for the thousands of visitors who come here annually.

"Making Colorado Sunday Schools Bigger and Better" was the subject of Professor Knapp's lecture. He urged that the Sunday school pupils remain for the church services.

W. L. Boatright, chairman of the temperance committee, gave a talk on temperance. He said that 90 per cent of the criminals in the penitentiaries of the country owe their downfall to strong drink, and cited statistics of death and crime because of intoxicants.

Dr. W. A. Brown, in speaking on "Visions," urged his hearers to see Colorado as a Sunday school state; to realize what a great field it is for work in the right direction.

Mezzos, Execels and Roper, singer and pianist, respectively, furnished music during the sessions, and the music was a notable feature of the day.

THE CARNIVAL AS AN INVESTMENT

OF THE many demands for subscriptions made on the business men last year there was one that nobody "had a kick on" and that was for a donation to the summer carnival. After the crowds had been here and spent their money and everybody had pronounced the carnival the biggest and best ever, there was a general declaration that it was a good thing and must be kept up.

Evidently that impression has stayed in the public mind for the citizens are responding nicely to the call for money. Last Saturday a large number of letters were sent out asking for donations to the carnival fund. Yesterday many pledges and checks came rolling in to headquarters. That does not mean that the money is all subscribed and that other contributions will not be needed. Indeed, the committee will have to do some hard work before an adequate fund is secured, but voluntary contributions speak louder than words as to how the business men feel about the carnival.

Last year the committee had a hard time making people believe in the advisability of holding a carnival. The donations voluntarily given this year show that their conversion is a permanent one. Some of the checks are much larger than were given last year by the same firms. This fact is the best evidence that the donors found the carnival a good business investment.

It should not take extended argument to show that such entertainments under public auspices are beneficial. Pleasure seekers expect them. The principal attractions of the Pikes Peak Region are, indeed, the gifts of nature. However, in order to keep visitors here and to bring old visitors back it is necessary to entertain them, and to do that royally, in Colorado Springs wishes to maintain her popularity as a resort city.

The carnival this year is to come late. Thus far there is no competition to it in the State, excepting the usual festivals and fairs. No doubt hundreds of people at other resorts will make their plans to finish up their vacations in the Pikes Peak Region if we offer an attractive carnival.

Accordingly, our advice is that every one interested immediately send a pledge card to the Carnival Committee at the Chamber of Commerce, or make out a check to Willis R. Armstrong, treasurer of the fund. Probably a large number of citizens fully intend to subscribe at some time. They should save themselves the annoyance of being solicited and relieve the committee of that much work.

THE KEYNOTE SPEECH

THE temporary chairman delivers the first set speech in a political convention. The speaker is supposed to voice sentiments that are to become the keynote of the convention and campaign. There is no evidence, however, that the address delivered by Senator Root has the keynote character. It was conservative, but not conservative enough to electrify the stand-pat element.

The addresses delivered by the temporary chairman of previous conventions have not been the ones containing phrases that have been caught up because of their pregnancy of apt characterization. Senator Root's speech is no exception; it appears to contain no campaign war-cry.

It is the nominating speeches of those delivered in debate on some important question that have had the keynote character. Previous to 1868 nominating speeches in political conventions were as simple and as much to the point as it was possible to make them; they contained no eulogies. In that year, however, lengthy nominating speeches were delivered in the Democratic convention and John A. Logan delivered a 100-word eulogy in nominating General Grant in the Republican convention.

Perhaps the most celebrated speech was that delivered in 1876 by Robert G. Ingersoll placing James G. Blaine in nomination.

"Like an armed warrior, like a plumed knight, James G. Blaine marched down the halls of the American Congress and threw his shining lance full and fair against the brazen forehead of every defamer of his country and maligner of its honor."

Again in 1884 General E. S. Bragg of Wisconsin used a phrase in nominating Grover Cleveland that was so expressive that it was taken up as a campaign cry. Referring to the antagonism of Tammany Hall to Cleveland, General Bragg said, "We love him most for the enemies he has made."

Everyone knows that it was his speech on the silver question in 1896 that made William Jennings Bryan a national figure. "You have put eternity upon a cross of gold" is the part of this speech that lives in our memories.

It is much easier to set an audience on fire with enthusiasm for a man than for a measure. Hence it is that nominating speeches, rather than the addresses of the chairmen of conventions, have really electrified conventions and have contained the campaign keynote.

SENATOR ROOT LANDS TAFT ADMINISTRATION.

Senator Root counts the establishment of a tariff commission and assigns the credit to the Taft administration. The Senator should not forget that he voted against various amendments to the Payne-Aldrich bill offered by Senator La Follette. Among these amendments was one to establish a tariff commission with strong powers. At that time the Aldrich machine voted down the proposal with a whoop and a hurrah.

The Senator praises the administration for widening the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Again he appears to have forgotten that it was the amendments to the Taft-Wickersham bill, made by the Progressives, that contained the effective features. The provision establishing a Commerce Court was in the original bill, and that has been proved to be a blow to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Senator congratulates the administration because of the dissolution of the Standard Oil and Tobacco trusts. He takes the position that these dissolutions have been successful. He appears to think that nothing more should be done.

Finally, the Senator says that "The conservation of natural resources has been in the hands of its friends." Luckily, conservation was rescued from the "friend" placed in charge of its welfare, Secretary Ballinger.

Senator Root is a man of great ability, but not of great enthusiasm. His speech was politic and cool. He did not recognize the crisis in the Republican party. For those reasons his address failed to arouse the convention.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

CUTWORMS.
The following article by H. H. Chittenden of the United States department of agriculture, Bureau of entomology, may be of interest and some service to growers of garden truck and flowers.

Cutworms, by which term the naked, dusky larvae of various order, moths are commonly known, form a class of pests causing no little injury and annoyance to the flower or vegetable grower during the spring and early summer. They appear while the young plants are just coming through the ground and, being of large size and voracious feeders, are capable of destroying many small plants in a single night.

The cutworm's method of attack is usually to cut off the small plant at the surface of the ground and then feed on the leaves, which may be drawn into the mouth of the burrow near the base of the plant in which the larvae remains concealed during the day and from which it issues at night, or on unusually cloudy days, for the purpose of feeding. Certain species, however, feed by day, and in the case of those known as "climbing cutworms" may ascend the plant to cut off or feed directly upon the leaves.

LIFE HISTORY. The life history of the common varieties is about as follows: The eggs are laid by a brownish, dusky-winged moth, about one and one-half inches in spread of wing, during the early fall. When first hatched the larvae are quite small and as the growth of vegetation is usually rank at this time, no signs of injury are noticed. The larvae continue to feed until nearly full grown, when the advent of cold weather and the consequent death of vegetation drive them into hibernation in the soil. They remain in hibernation, buried in the soil or beneath piles of rubbish or weeds, until the approach of spring, when they come forth hungry and nearly full grown and as vegetation is scant, capable of destroying large amounts of small or young plants. They become full-grown usually during the first week in June and burrow into the ground to pupate, emerging as moths in late June and July.

REMEDIES. As a remedy for cutworms in garden and truck fields, nothing has been more successfully used than rotenone-bait. The best mixture for this purpose may be made according to the following directions: To one bushel of dry bran (about 30 pounds) should be added one pound of white arsenic or Paris green. These should be thoroughly mixed and then made into a mash with seven or eight gallons of water, in which has been stirred one-half gallon of corn syrup or molasses. The mash should be allowed to stand for several hours before use. This mixture is applied by scattering it in places, the size of a common marble, in the fields where cutworm injury is beginning to appear. In case of plants newly set out, a small pile may be placed about or near the base of the plant or watered among the plants in a hill. For the best results, it should be applied just before evening, as cutworms are in the habit of feeding at night. A second application may be necessary after the cultivation of the ground.

A spray of arsenate of lead, three pounds to 50 gallons of water, may also prove useful where "climbing cutworms" are concerned in the injury. Paris green is a poisonous compound, consisting of about 57 per cent arsenic oxide combined with copper, and discretion and care must be exercised in its employment. A simple and very efficient method of employing it for garden purposes is as follows: Mix one ounce of Paris green with eight chopped grass, or leaves, and distribute in small jumps at evening where wanted.

THE BANKRUPT BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
An editorial in The Gazette of June 15 commends the work of the state bureau of immigration, but infers that the use of the initiative to save this bureau a fund with which to do its work is up called for. "You say that 'the initiative and referendum are meant for emergency uses only.'"

I respectfully suggest that the present financial condition of the Colorado state bureau of immigration calls for an emergency measure. The most important work which the state can do is to settle its waste places with prosperous families. The bureau referred to was organized for that purpose. Effort has been made to obtain an available fund for it through the legislature, and all are getting proportionate results with these expenditures on its immigration service. Colorado alone among the western states is doing this. Future efforts to accomplish that end by the same means are foredoomed to failure because of prevailing legal and political conditions in this state.

The only proffered solution which will settle the question for all time is to take the bureau entirely out of politics, give it a permanent annual fund through a constitutional amendment under the initiative, and establish its work for Colorado on a business basis conducted by business men. All of these things the proposed initiative amendment will do, though there are no other apparent means to accomplish these ends.

With the settlement of disturbed national political conditions at hand, with an enervated business life throughout this country, a great revival of westward immigration is imminent. The state of Colorado must take advantage of its opportunities now or be left behind in the race for western supremacy. Wyoming is spending $25,000 a year; Idaho, $30,000; Nevada, $50,000; California, $100,000, and all are getting proportionate results with these expenditures on its immigration service. Colorado, alone among the western states is doing little or nothing. Under these conditions the proposed amendment certainly assumes the guise of an emergency measure and, as such, is fully entitled to a place on the November ballot under the initiative, simply because it is the only successful method of righting a wrong condition.

Do not make the mistake of believing that others enjoy hearing you talk.

A real cute woman can abuse a man in telling him she admires him.

Business is usually good in a good store.

Advice to women: A man doesn't amount to much, at best; in getting one, get the best possible.

When a woman tells a piece of gossip, she clears her conscience by saying: "And to think it has been going on a year, and I never heard it before!"

A family horse, a great pet and loafer, ran away the other day with very little excuse, and this is what happened to him: He was loaded in a car with a lot of mules, and shipped south, where he will plow cotton.

People are always anxious to be amused, and always ready to complain when an attempt is made to instruct them.

Our Houses as Our Mirrors

By RUTH CAMERON.

Have you ever happened to observe how largely a house absorbs an atmosphere from those who dwell in it?

This thought came strongly to me the other day when I went to visit an old friend and found a little note saying that she had been unexpectedly called away for a few hours and inviting me to get the key from a neighbor, enter and make myself comfortable.

My friend is one of those beautifully hospitable people who have the pleasant art of making every guest feel thoroughly at home. And her house must have absorbed some of that spirit. For the moment I entered, I felt at home. The empty house greeted me, I missed my friend, of course, but I felt no sense of constraint or formality, as I would have in so many houses. The house was full of that spirit of hospitality which is its mistress's possession.

Perhaps you will remind me that the character of the furnishings may have had something to do with my impression. I grant it. The congenial magazines and books and pictures, the comfortable chairs, the harmonious hangings did give me part of my welcome. But not all. I insist that the spirit of hospitality was in that house.

Surely you know some home which has an atmosphere of cold formality. No matter how tasteful and pleasing the surroundings, you never feel wholly at ease. Nor is it simply your hostess' lack of cordiality. Even before she appears, you sit in chill constraint on the edge of your chair. You are opposed and repelled by the atmosphere of the house.

Again, there are homes which seem to be haunted by the spirit of unrest and others where peace abides. Someone has beautifully said, "An old house harbors peace better than a new one." That is partially true, and yet I know many new homes which, being inhabited by tranquil, peaceful people, seem to breathe the spirit of peace itself who enter there.

Along these same lines I have another theory, and that is that household pets also take on the character of those with whom they live. The most disagreeable dog I ever knew lived with some most amiable people. The dog finally became so snappy that they had to get him out of the neighborhood. He was given to the family carpenter. The other day I called there and a pleasant little dog trotted into the room and welcomed me. I could hardly be convinced that it was actually our neighborhood bete-noire. But it was. Living with pleasant people he had become pleasant himself.

Again I know a wonderful black Persian puss with queer unattractive habits who is the close friend of a distinctly eccentric and wonderful woman; and I have been particularly impressed with the case of an awkward, impetuous, well-meaning doggie who certainly mirrors the characteristics, if not the actual appearance, of his master.

Truly, it is an interesting theory, this idea that people with strong characteristics affect their surroundings. Try it out some day with your friends.

THE HASKIN LETTER

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

During the summer a number of the most prominent members of the American Society of International Law, an organization representing many of the leading jurists and phil-anthropists of this and other nations, are giving consideration to matters pertaining to the next Hague peace conference, to be held probably in the summer of 1915. As the first Hague conference was called largely through the influence of Americans and as the recommendation that a third conference be held was made at the second conference by Mr. Joseph H. Choate, who represented the American delegation under the direction of Mr. Root who was then the secretary of state, it seems fitting that this matter should receive first attention and consideration in this country.

Mr. Choate's recommendation did not specify that any power should be charged with the duty and responsibility of calling a third conference, but as the second conference was proposed by President Roosevelt, it is conceded that the influence of the American nation will be fully equal to that of any other. So it naturally follows that suggestions as to the matters to be considered at the third conference might properly come from America and that the one organization devoted to the study of the legal status of all of the civilized nations in the world should give consideration to them.

The matter of most importance in the eyes of the majority of those interested in The Hague conferences is a permanent plan of organization and the establishment of regular periods and dates from the different nations for new conferences. There should be a fixed method for apportioning the delegates from the different nations and the duties and privileges of these delegates should be definitely fixed, while a regular order of procedure for the different meetings of the conference should be arranged by an agreement of all the nations to be represented. These matters affect all of the nations, but there can be nothing accomplished without some tentative plan of action and the consideration of such a plan is now before the American Society of International Law.

Original in Its Scope.

The American Society of International Law is unique and original in its scope and the beneficence of its influence is already acknowledged throughout the world. Six years ago a number of the most prominent men of this nation met at the national capital for the purpose of forming an organization which should be devoted exclusively to the study of the laws of the different nations of the world in order that there might be brought about a better understanding of the principles and basis of law and justice as understood by each. In one sense the object of the society might be said to be the promotion of universal peace upon the highest and most ethical principles, for with a better understanding of the laws of a nation comes a better understanding of the nation itself and much of the warfare of both past and present has been largely due to the fact that the nations did not understand each other. Because of this indirect object, this society has from the first planned to cooperate actively with other organizations in every country having this object in view.

The president of the society is Senator Elmer A. Root, ex-secretary of state. Previous Taft is its honorary president. Among the vice presidents are Chief Justice White, Justice William R. Day, Secretary Knox, Joseph H. Choate, Oscar S. Straus, Andrew Carnegie and a number of other men equally well known. The membership of the society includes prominent jurists, diplomats and philanthropists, together with professors of political economy from the leading American universities. It now numbers over a thousand and is rapidly increasing in both numbers and influence.

No Endowment of Any Kind.

The society has no endowment of any kind. Its income aside from its annual dues of $5 per member and the interest upon a few life memberships of a hundred dollars each, is from voluntary contributions made by the members as the needs of the work become apparent. All of the officers serve gratuitously. Even the editor of "The Journal," which is issued quarterly, does not receive a dollar.

salary and the contributors who rank among the leading jurists in the world, generously donate their literary contributions for the purpose of giving to the world a better understanding of the laws of nations.

"The Journal" is published as the best means of disseminating the knowledge which the society gains through the studies continually being made by these experts. It contains editorial comment and description of all events bearing upon new laws, judicial decisions and bearing upon international laws, a list of current periodical literature bearing upon international laws and such other material as seems to have an important bearing upon international relations. In addition to "The Journal" there is issued, beginning with last January, a supplement which contains the text of every treaty, national agreement or other important legal enactment of international interest, together with a chronicle of international events, and similar matters not readily accessible to the average student. The value of "The Journal," even before the issuance of the supplement, appeared so strongly to Mr. Root that he promptly added "The Golden Book of International Law," by which title it is well known to the members of the society who receive it regularly as a part of their membership privileges.

Besides publishing the Journal and the supplement, the society each year publishes the proceedings of the annual meetings with the full texts of all the speeches and discussions. This volume is in itself a valuable addition to the literature upon international law, since all of the discussions are upon important and timely subjects. They are presented always by the men best qualified to speak upon them, so are important to all persons interested in any of the questions of diplomacy or foreign relations. They give to the students of political economy, real information which could not easily be obtained elsewhere. The need of an organization devoted to the study of international law was felt by all of the leading universities before the inception of this society and its publications are recognized as being of incalculable value.

While the society was organized primarily for Americans, it has already extended its membership privileges to citizens of other nations and almost every important country in the world is now represented in its enrollment. The development of an international society for the study of international law now seems inevitable as an outgrowth of the one which is doing such good work in this country. Those who have given consideration to the subject declare that there could be no single effort which would have so powerful an influence in the promotion of international peace.

The newest work of the society has been in the direction of securing closer relations with all the Latin-American republics. With this end in view, a Spanish edition of the Journal and its supplement has been published, which will no doubt be enthusiastically received by all of those nations. In addition to being furnished free to the members of the society living in these countries, these publications are to be liberally distributed among the governments and among the universities and other higher institutions of learning including the most important libraries. Branches of the American Society of International Law will soon be established in each of the more important Central and South American cities. The legal developments in these countries have received special consideration and among the subjects most recently taken up by the society have been the full details regarding the boundary difficulties between Costa Rica and Panama which have recently been included in its publications.

Passport Question Taken Up.

Another matter which has been carefully gone over during the last year for publication in the Journal, is the passport question in Europe with especial reference to the attitude taken by Russia in the issuance of passports to foreigners and the effect of these regulations, not only upon the United States, but also upon other nations. The differences between Italy and Tripoli.

HAND-MADE JEWELRY

There is "that something" about hand-wrought jewelry that carries with it the individuality of the designer as well as the maker. Compare a well-executed creation in hand-made jewelry with a die-struck jewelry and the common kind is cold and lifeless. PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION BY HORTICULTURALISTS

The work of the Horticultural society has been delayed somewhat recently, owing to the illness of Secretary Horn. Matters will be pushed energetically from now on according to a decision reached at a meeting Tuesday night. A total of 10,240 packages of seed have been distributed in the public schools to date, which insures a well filled public section in the flower show. Entries in the "home promises" contest are to be called for by July 1st at the latest and the judges will start their work on the 15th of that date.

Committees on the flower and baby shows have been appointed. These shows will be held in the Stratton park pavilion. All entries for the flower show will be called in before August 17, and announcements regarding the doll and baby shows will be made later. If sufficient funds are secured to offer suitable premiums, the farmers' exhibits will be featured. Efforts also will be made to bring out the best display of dahlias ever seen in this state, and to this end several premiums have been offered. Several other good features are being planned.

Dr. Arnold has promised a good collection of native birds, and may be induced to give illustrated talks in connection with his exhibits.

The schedule for this year contains more than 400 classes. All entries must be filed with the secretary, from whom schedules and entry blanks can be secured. He can be found in his office in the Horticultural society room in the basement of the court house nearly every afternoon. This room adjoins Justice Dunnington's court.

Covington, Mo.—"Your medicine has done me more good than all the doctors' medicines. At every monthly period I had to stay in bed four days because of hemorrhages, and my back was so weak I could hardly walk. I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I can stay up and do my work. I think it is the best medicine on earth for women."

How Mrs. Cline Avoided Operation

Brownsville, Ind.—"I can say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me more good than anything else. One doctor said I must be operated upon for a serious female trouble and that nothing could help me but an operation. "I had hemorrhages and at times could not get any medicine to stop them. I got in such a weak condition that I would have died if I had not got relief soon. "Several women who had taken your Compound, told me to try it and I did and found it to be the right medicine to build up the system and overcome female troubles. "I am now in great deal better health than I ever expected to be, so I think I ought to thank you for it."

ZOO OPENS SATURDAY, COUGHLIN DUE TODAY

Will Take Personal Charge of Many Improvements at Popular Resort.

Mrs. Coughlin Already Here

Alderman J. J. Coughlin of Chicago is due in Colorado Springs today to assume personal charge of arrangements attending the opening of the Zoo next Saturday. Mrs. Coughlin is here preparing the new Coughlin home on Cheyenne boulevard, near the park, for occupancy this summer.

While the formal opening of the Zoo has been held back this season because of unfavorable conditions, patrons of the resort are assured of a bigger and better place of amusement with Saturday's opening. For the last month workmen have been putting the park in order, rebuilding the roller coaster, repairing the various places of amusement and enlarging the swimming pools. The swimming pools, which will be supplied both with warm and cold water, promise to be quite popular this year. With the exception of the natural pool at Glenwood Springs, those at the Zoo are probably the largest in the state, and are fitted up in modern style.

SEEKS PARENTS WHO GAVE HER AWAY 18 YEARS AGO

The Chamber of Commerce has received a pathetic letter from Miss Esther H. Solomon of Frankfort, Kan., appealing for aid in finding her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Gandy, who gave her away 18 years ago, when she was 5 months old, to the Solomons, with whom she has been living since. She also wants to find her twin brothers, who were supposedly given away at the same time. No record of the children having been adopted here can be found in the county clerk's office although it was in Colorado Springs that the children are supposed to have been given away.

The letter follows: "Do you know of anyone by the name of Gandy, or anyone that 'dunno' 'Yes, Gandy, George and Mary (Mrs. Mary) Gandy or two boys, twin boys, my own brothers. Oh, please help me find them, and my father and mother who 18 years ago this month gave me away to Mr. and Mrs. William Solomon at the age of five months. I must find them. With God helping me, I will. Will you too help me, or please tell me how to go about it?"

"We might advertise in some of the best papers in that city. I haven't much money to do this work, you might say not any, but having always been kept a secret from me now I know about it. I cannot, must not wait."

"They advertised to give me away and said, 'Inquire at the Intelligent office, and now I inquire at the same to get back."

George and Mary (Mrs. Mary) having broken up the home given away their children, separated each to be looked after by strangers. But I believe the twins were given to the same people, they were two or three years older than I."

"Now, if I have omitted anything please inform me of the fact and what it is. I will do my best for where there is a will there is a way."

SEEKS COLO. IRRIGATION EXPERTS FOR AUSTRALIA

P. E. Quinn, actively engaged in journalistic work for 30 years and now a government commissioner for New South Wales, Australia, with headquarters at Sydney, is in the United States and just now in Colorado Springs in the interests of the Antipodean country.

Quinn's mission to the States is twofold—he is exploiting the land of his adoption as America's affinity when the Panama canal is completed, and he is looking for a limited number of skilled irrigators to take up blocks in the national irrigation area. In the Murrumbidgee valley. Incidentally he is gathering information and data from first-hand sources of dry farming methods.

"Australia has a considerable amount of fairly dry country," he said at the Alamo hotel last night, "and we are taking lessons from the operations and triumphs here in conquering arid territory. We are spending $27,000,000 in New South Wales on government irrigation projects. We are somewhat unskilled in this work and are looking to the United States to get some irrigation experts to come to our country and demonstrate what can be done with dry lands. We have sent out quite a number from California, and we also want a few who are accustomed to the difficult methods of irrigation from Colorado. My government offers good terms."

Mr. Quinn expects a great change on the Pacific with the completion of the Panama canal and declares that Australians are glad the United States will come into power in its control. It means, he says, the domination of the Pacific by the white race, and a big increase in trade between Australia and the United States. He will remain in Colorado Springs until tomorrow morning.

A number of ladies from Shreveport, La., arrived yesterday and are staying at the Alta Vista. The party includes Mrs. W. H. Henderson, Miss Marie Johnson, Mrs. John Shuttleworth, Miss Stella Cameron and Mrs. J. D. Wilkinson. They are en route to the Pacific coast.

To Regain a Healthy, Girlish Complexion

(From the Feminine World)

If you would have a clear, fresh, girlish complexion one ounce of ordinary household soap will add you in this direction more than shelves full of cosmetics. It produces a natural beauty. This was procurable at any drugstore, completely absorbs a bad complexion, revealing the healthy young skin underneath. Its work is done gradually day by day, that no inconvenience is caused. The soap is applied at night like cold cream, and removed in the morning with soap and water.

Another valuable rejuvenating treatment if you have wrinkles, or your skin is flabby and saggier is to bathe your face in a solution of powdered exfoline 1 or 2 dissolved in 4 pt. witch hazel. This has a remarkable action in smoothing out the lines and firming up the loosened tissue.

WILL ENTERTAIN VISITING CLUB WOMEN THIS EVENING

The Colorado Springs Federation of Women's clubs will give an informal reception at the Antlers hotel this evening from 8 to 10 o'clock, in honor of the club women from the east en route to the biennial meeting at San Francisco. The special train on the Rio Grande will arrive here early this morning and will be parked for 24 hours while the women visit points of scenic interest in this vicinity. A cordial invitation is extended to all club women in the city to attend and assist in the entertainment of the visitors.

Those receiving will be Mrs. L. A. Miller, president of the city federation, and the other general officers, Mrs. G. A. Boyd, Mrs. A. J. Carper, Mrs. O. S. Ellsworth, Mrs. Hubert Strang, Mrs. A. E. Rowton and Mrs. S. L. Eldridge, together with some of the prominent visiting club women.

Miss Mabel St. John, a local contralto singer will give several solos and light refreshments will be served from a table adorned with the star flower, the lavender and white columbines and other wild flowers.

Those serving will be Mrs. E. L. Ellis, Mrs. I. A. Giddings, Mrs. H. P. Daniels and Mrs. W. L. Bartlett, while assisting will be Mrs. N. N. Brumback, Mrs. A. L. Mowry, Mrs. Harriet Daniels, Mrs. E. B. Marsh, Mrs. L. B. Grafton, Mrs. Frank Cotton, Mrs. J. I. MacNeill and Mrs. Duncan Lamont. The guests will be met in the lobby by Mrs. M. P. Yates and Mrs. W. H. Tucker.

PREVENT AUTOS DRIPPING OIL ON NEW PAVEMENT

An ordinance requiring automobiles and other gasoline or naphtha driven vehicles to carry drip pans was introduced by Commissioner Lawton at yesterday's meeting of the city council and passed first reading. When the new law becomes effective it will be enforced strictly. It is said, in order to protect the paved section as much as possible, oil soon rots asphalt. Oil wagons also will be prohibited from driving over paved streets unless equipped with drip pans.

At yesterday's meeting the Sun Drug company was granted a liquor license for one year, and an application of the Helley-Arcularius Drug company was read and ordered printed. Hearing was set for July 8.

A communication from the Civic league, opposing the plan to close Cheyenne avenue to vehicle traffic, was received and ordered placed on file.

Las Vegas Determined to Hold July 4 Battle

By W. H. LANIGAN
EAST LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 19.—The business men of the city had a meeting this morning and were unanimous in their opinion that they would make certain that no interference with the big scrap scheduled for July 4 takes place. They had Governor McDonald on the long distance phone this morning and while they got no satisfaction from the governor at the time, they gave them to understand that there was absolutely nothing so far as he was concerned. Governor McDonald denied absolutely that he had given out statements at Albuquerque to the effect that he would stop the fight. He said he never talked with anyone while the matter was in the air. This given color to the story that certain parties in Albuquerque have an ax to grind and are doing all in their power to drive the battle away from New Mexico.

Smith So did the promoters. Then Welch was eminently satisfactory in every way to the three sides. The final selection was made after a long conference with the three sides. Smith, incidentally, saw that he would not be idle July 4 by accepting Los Angeles offer to fight at the Volga-Harvey fight. Smith's two alternates will be Edward W. Cochrane and Abe Pollock.

The fourth estate owns the referee and his two alternates of the Flynn-Johnson contest. Ed W. Smith, the first choice, is sporting editor of the Chicago Evening American. He is probably the country's premier fight expert and a writer of unusual brilliancy. Smith's last ring engagement was in Indianapolis last month when he served as the third man in the ring when Parky McFarland defeated Ray Thompson. Edward Cochrane, the first substitute referee, is sporting editor of the Kansas City Journal. The game of bluff has few cleverer chroniclers than Cochrane. He is also experienced in the referee field. The Missouri's last ring engagement was at the Luther McCarty-Carl Morris bout in Springfield, Mo. some two months ago. Pollock, Smith's other alternate, is now a resident of Denver and there are few better for more accurate critics than the former Chicagoan. Up until the time that the bout went down on boxing in Chicago, Pollock operated in that city. He referred a lot of important contests and also handled a lot of good boys.

AMERICANS ENTERED IN BRITISH CHAMPIONSHIP

LONDON, June 19.—Two representatives of American golf are entered in the open championship which will be played at Muirfield June 24 and 25. The draw this week showed J. J. McDermott of Atlantic City, matched against J. Russell while J. G. Anderson of the United States, plays the Russian's club professional, J. Walker. Both men play their qualifying competition on June 20.

The total entry is 212, the second largest in the history of the game. The entry is divided into three sections, which play June 20 and the two following days over 36 holes. The best 60 compete in the championship proper. Its entries include Harry Vardon, J. P. Taylor, Bernard Hall, Leonard Hare, Mayo, professional John Hall, Hilton, captain, Hut, Hinson, J. Graham and Michael Scott.

The Cleveland club has turned over Putter Bill James to the Toledo club, whence he came.

Tonight's Match Off

There will be no tussle in the Temple tonight because there will be no one here to meet T. Ryan on the mat. Hassan Yusuf, substituted at the eleventh hour, when it was learned that Ryan was so badly used up in his match a few days ago with Dr. Roller that he couldn't make his trip to Colorado. He said last night that the summons had come too late. He wants another week to train for the match and so far as he is concerned, will be delighted to meet the local man a week from tonight. The Turk did a grind of a dozen miles on the road yesterday, as a starter saying he wanted to be in top form for the bout. Delivuk leaves this morning for Glenwood Springs where he is to wrestle DuCrav before a house that already is sold out for tomorrow night. He agrees to topple the Grand Junction man twice in an hour or forfeit the winner's end of the gate, which is to be split 60 and 40.

It is within the range of possibility that Dr. Roller, famous as one of the greatest athletes ever turned out at Pennsylvania, and acknowledged as a top-notch grappler, will be in the Springs the latter part of the month. He is now in Texas, with Las Vegas as his stopping place July 4, and plans are on to bring him here for a handi-cap bout before that date.

Wolgaust Signed to Fight Abe Attell

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—Abe Attell and Wolgaust will fight here early in August at 133 pounds, ring-side. Billy Nolan, manager for Attell, says he will post a side bet of $10,000. The details of the match will be perfected as soon as possible. James Coffroth, who arranged the match, is also trying to bring "One-Round" Hogan and "Knockout" Brown together in August.

SHORT GRASS CLUB COMING IN AUGUST

A F. Cross of Eldon, Mo., and W. Bennett of Wichita, Kan., path finders for the coming tour of the Kansas Short Grass Motor Cycle Club arrived from Denver Tuesday night on motorcycles and spent yesterday in the city and territory adjacent sight seeing. They left for Pueblo today and will go as far north as Chanute, Kan., before returning.

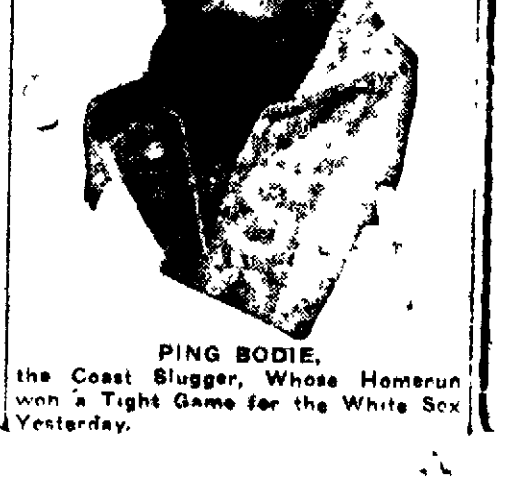

The Kansas Short Grass club stopped in this city to get numbers and their appearance created a great deal of interest. It is said to be the largest tour ever taken in its world by any club and covers four states, requiring 15 days to complete. Eight towns will be visited and the club will carry a male quartet, baseball team, eight racing motorcycles and racing autos. If possible a full game and race meet will be planned when the club arrives here about August 1. The number who will be on the roster for the trip will be in the neighborhood of 200, according to Cross, the office pathfinder.

Colorado Springs will be the main stopping place of the club and a longer stay will be scheduled for this city than at any other point along the line.

Nationals Checked

Our next interrogation in this year of baseball surprises might well be "Can the Washington club come back with another string of 17 straight victories?" Tuesday's win made it 17 in a row for the much-riduled Nationals and it was expected for the champions to keep up the streak. The Athletics to stop their malice, however, yesterday by taking both games in a double header. Washington's winning streak was beginning to carry the Athletics and some of the other teams who believed they had a corner on the pennant. There is no disputing the fact that Griffith's team made an unusual spurt. When they started out to win 17 in a row they were in the second division below the 40 mark, now they are in second place, although Chicago and Philadelphia are close on their heels.

It is probably too much to expect the Washington squad to repeat this performance again this season. Taking Johnnie McBride and Miller out of the calculation the players appear to be too young and inexperienced to go through the season without a slump. And when the season comes along the Nationals will have a new club president, the Athletics ready to jump to the front and take over. A lot of credit is due Clark Griffith for Washington's showing to date for he built a ball club in a month that has made it in and beaten the best there is in baseball.
